IBOM POWER HOLDS INFORMATION SESSION AT MADE IN AKWA IBOM FAIR

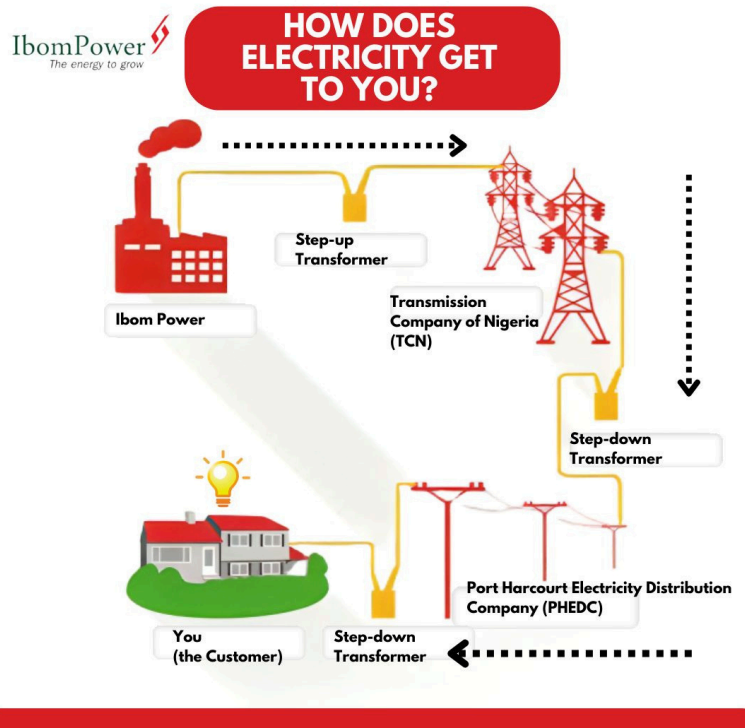

Ibom Power, an independent power generation plant owned by the Akwa Ibom State Government, has taken advantage of the vibrant 'Made in Akwa Ibom' Trade Fair 2024 held at the Ibom e-library in Uyo, to raise public awareness of the company's operations and its place in the power sector value chain. Curious attendees of the fair were drawn to Ibom Power's booth, where they saw an eye-catching model of the 191 megawatts power plant located in Ikot Abasi and perused the company's newsletters and other information materials on display, desiring to know more about the company's operations and its impact on the people of Akwa Ibom.

The Administrative Manager of Ibom Power, Ms. Imaobong Akpabio, who led the team that included Michael Dada and Mary Essien from the Corporate Services department, disclosed that the company used the Made in Akwa Ibom Trade Fair to hold an information session and foster public confidence in the vital role that Ibom power plays in the economic development of Akwa Ibom State. "We are making the most of this trade fair to educate the public about the difference between Ibom Power and the Port Harcourt Electricity Distribution Company (PHEDC). Ibom Power only

NOT MISSING IN THE ACTION

Another September 23rd is here, marking the 37th anniversary of the creation of our beloved Akwa Abasi Ibom State! The State has continued on the trajectory of exponential progress and we are excited to be a part of the Akwa Ibom success story.

MiA, which stands for 'Missing in Action', is frequently used figuratively to describe someone or anything that is noticeably absent or unexpectedly missing. It was also the abbreviation for the second edition of the Made in Akwa Ibom Trade Fair 2024 and Ibom Power did not miss in the action! As expected, we answered plenty questions, the most notable of which was, 'Why don't we have light, Ibom Power?' Our knowledgeable team answered the questions satisfactorily, and we were able to share our narrative, which was well received.

Happy reading!
